

Let us salute them for the dignity in hard work?

in this International Women's Day

Human Civilization began with hard work; much before reading and writing

Road to end of poverty: You can strengthen their hands!
SKS lives its mission to graduate them to sustainable livelihoods

Perfected Trade off

Your half a US$ a day for one year will be a beacon to families like theirs to bounce back to lives and livelihoods, unleashing their latent economic potential. As partner, you will be excited to track their transition from existential poverty. You can visit her family and share her joy of living the life as you have imagined, seeing for yourself the levers you have made available to sustain her livelihoods.

Rooted in ultra poverty backwaters with evidence based solutions, SKS is the Organization in India with dedicated Ultra Poor Graduation Pilots.

Ultra Poor

Let their dreams soar!!!! Vision Take wings!!!!
